The Colliery Disaster.

LONDON, Sept. 12 —Full extent of the terrible disaster in the coal mines at Abercarne yesterday is now known. At half past 2 this morning flooding of the pit was commenced At that hour the fire was within a short distance of the bottom of the shaft, and all hope of further rescues had to be abandoned. When this decision was announced to the relatives of the 251 men still in the pit the scene was terrible beyond description Three additional bodies of victims were recovered before the flooding of the pit began.

An Irish Lecture.

LONDON, Sept 12.—At a meeting in Belfast, Ireland, last night, O'Donnell, Home Rule member of parliament for Dungarvon, had an appointment to lecture on the subject "Home Rule and Tenant Right" Beggar, Home Rule member of parliament for Cavan, was to preside. When they appeared on the platform a scene of wild confusion was occasioned, followed by fierce fighting in all parts of the hall and on the platform, resulting in smashing of furniture and many heads Finally the people peaceably dispersed and the rioters all went out and Beggar delivered his address and O'Donnell his lecture to the reporters. The cause of the riot was the displeasure of Home Rulers at O'Donnell supporting the government on the Eastern question.

The Inter-Ocean remembering the fate of Belford advises the Iowa republicans to have two elections rather than have any doubt about the election of the [illegible] [illegible]

Advices from Washington state that the democratic national committee are out of money and that a conference was held on Friday at which as a last resort it was decided to apply to Tilden for aid This gives Tilden a good hold on the party in 1880 His "usufruct" is indispensable.

The recent reception given to the Mexican minister at Chicago has excited a good deal of interest in regard to our commerce with Mexico The population of Mexico is largely on the table lands and Humboldt in the beginning of this century, long before there were railroads, pointed out, as the best practicable route for commercial intercourse between Mexico and the United States the plateau extending from the City of Mexico to the Rio Grande river Railroads are gradually approaching the Rio Grande, and the time is not far distant when there will be railroad communications with Mexico This will open an immense trade for our manufactured goods in this country inhabited by 10,000,000 of people

The rapid strength which the greenbackers have developed in the country is largely due to the fact that they have been allowed by both political parties to deceive the people by their misstatement of facts without any opposition Had the republican party in the beginning taken a square stand on the financial question there would have been no such state ticket nominated by that party last August We have allowed these ignorant fanatic to misinform and mislead the people What we want now is a full and fair discussion of the question When the real facts are presented the greenbackers have no case whatever. The speech of Alpheus Wright on Wednesday evening amounted to nothing when the truth was told against his false statements

It is a source of annoyance in some parts of the country because the trade dollar of 420 grains will not be received for debts and the legal tender dollar of 412½ grains will There is a disposition on the part of the democratic press to put the blame on the republican party The facts are these An act of February 12 1873, provided for the coining of the trade dollar and make it a legal tender up to five dollars On the 18th of May, S J Randall, speaker of the democratic house introduced a bill to repeal the legal tender clause of the trade dollar act On the 10th of June Hon S S Cox reported a bill to the house which provided "That the trade dollar shall not hereafter be a legal tender and the secretary of the treasury is hereby authorized to limit from time to time the coinage thereof to such an amount as he may deem sufficient to meet the export demand for the same He urged the house to pass this bill and it became a law on the 22d of July The demonetization of the trade dollar originated with a democrat and passed a democratic house having nearly a two thirds majority

THE CONSPIRACY.

The Denver Tribune of yesterday published the following dispatch from Hon Fred Walsen

WALSENBURG, September 10, 1878.

Mr Sporleta says that no insult or pursuit happened to the lady in question at his hotel by Judge Belford I can prove, on the contrary, that the lady invited the Judge, before leaving at about 10 o'clock the next morning, to dine with her at her mother's residence and saying 'good bye' to the Judge entering his private room in doing so We did not know anything about the whole affair until the News reached us by mail this evening.

FRED WALSEN

This very effectually controverts the charges made in the dispatches of Patterson's reporter The whole affair is now regarded by republicans, at least as a conspiracy and will play no further part in the campaign The Register Call, published at the home of Belford, says, "Democrats who have known Judge Belford for years as the faithful husband loving father, and upright, moral citizen were just as loud in their denunciations of the dastardly and cowardly attack, as republicans Here in his home, where all classes have known him for years, as one of the most honorable of men, this last infamous attempt of his dishonorable opponents will react upon their heads and will result in a redoubled majority for the man whose personal character they have ruthlessly attacked to forward their political ends. The universal sentiment in this community is that these men have reached the "depth of infamy"

COLORADO POLITICS FROM ABROAD

A special to the Cincinnati Commercial from Washington displays a wonderful faculty for getting things mixed The only correct statement in the dispatch is in regard to the Belford-Patterson contest. But the fraud in this contest was so well known that any mistake in regard to it would have been unpardonable The dispatch says. "Ex-Governor Edward M McCook, of Colorado, is about to start for that [illegible] to do some good work for the republican cause He foresees trouble ahead unless the greenback candidate for governor can be drawn out of the contest. General McCook is of the opinion that it is folly to attempt to depreciate the greenback movement, because he says as a matter of fact, that party has a better organization than any party ever had in this country. Every man in it is an active worker and a reporter of progress and events The central agency of the party in New York is kept well advised of all that transpires, and of the outlook in all parts of the Union. They have assurances from Colorado of 9,000 voters in a total of less than 25,000 votes in the state. They have nominated as their candidate for governor Dr. Buckingham, formerly of Dayton, Ohio, whose popularity is great, and who was a few years ago elected Mayor of Denver as a republican by a large majority. Mr Pitkin, the republican candidate for governor, is a good man, but is only slightly known to the public, while the democratic candidate, Mr. Childs, stands well with his party. Whatever may be the result of the contest for state officers, General McCook confidently predicts the election of Belford as representative in congress against Patterson, the democrat who was seated by the House of Representatives this year, notwithstanding the palpable fact that Belford had been elected

The Wool Interest.

Just now the tariff question begins to assume proportions The News attempted justification of Patterson's vote in favor of the reduction of the tariff on wool is attracting attention. The following is an extract of a speech delivered by Mr. Brewer of Michigan during the debate in Congress and will be read with general interest

The growing of wool has become one of the largest industries in the country, and perhaps no other single industry extends over so large a portion of our country as that No one of the million of men engaged in the production of wool has asked for a change in our tariff duties upon foreign wool, but, on the contrary, the wool-producers and most of the wool manufacturers are in entire harmony in their urgent request that no change be made

I am heartily in favor of such legislation as shall, while meeting the wants of the national revenue, incidentally protect and encourage every industry, believing it to be far better for the people that we should provide for their wants from the production of their own labor rather than from the productions of foreign labor Of the thirty-five millions of sheep in the United States the farmers in Michigan own about two millions The people engaged in wool growing have studied the tariff question thoroughly so far as it affects their interest and I believe they are a unit in their condemnation of the proposed change of the duties on foreign wool The Michigan Wool Growers Association and many other like associations in other states have recently declared their adhesion to the present classification of wool and rates of duty thereon and to day the National Wool Growers Association and Wool Manufacturers Association are united in their opposition to any change

Still, we are politely informed by the Chairman of the Committee of Ways and Means that the proposed change of duty on foreign wool will be in the interest of the wool grower So far as I am concerned I prefer to take the judgment of practical men who for years have been giving the subject a careful investigation Previous to 1867 the most of our imported wool was of a finer class usually known as Cape and Mestiza wool which principally came from the Cape of Good Hope and the Argentine Republic In 1866 we received from the Argentine Republic 36 915 776 pounds, and from Cape of Good Hope 7,424,217 pounds or a total of 44,340 011 pounds We received during the same year from other places than those mentioned about 23,000,000 pounds of wool principally of a lower grade, making the total amount of wool imported that year 67,064 986 pounds In 1867, the year the present tariff law was enacted, we imported only 36,240,107 pounds, and of this only 6 227,991 pounds came from the Cape of Good Hope and the Argentine Republic, being a decrease in the importation of finer or clothing wools of about 37,000,000 pounds, while there was an actual increase that year in the importation of wool of a coarser quality from other places

One of the principal objects in arranging the tariff duties on wool in 1867 was to encourage our wool growers in the growing of the finer wools, recognizing the fact that it would be unwise legislation to encourage the production of a poor article

Hon Henry S Randall, now deceased late of Courtland New York and president of the National Wool Growers Association, informed us that the price of Cape and Mestiza wool previous to the war was thirteen cents per pound, and during the war averaged 15 1 cents per pound exclusive of tariff duty For the purpose of plainly showing the effect of the proposed tariff let us illustrate it in this way call Mestiza wool 15 cents per pound, although it is worth at present but 12 cents The duty under the present tariff, 10 cents per pound, and 11 per cent advalorem, would be 11 65 cents per pound while under the proposed law, at 35 per cent ad valorem, would be 11 65 cents per pound, while under the proposed law, at 35 per cent ad valorem the duty on each pound would 5 25 or 6 40 cents less per pound than under the present law, and yet we are told by some of these theoretical gentlemen on the Committee of Ways and Means that the proposed duty on wool is to the interest of the wool growers. If they mean that it will be in the interest of the foreign wool growers then they are correct, but it certainly cannot be in the interest of our home producers But let us show again how this proposed measure is in the interest of our own people The following statement is furnished me by the secretary of one of the largest wool manufacturing establishments in Massachusetts It will be seen that we placed the price of Cape and Mestiza wool too high in our former statement

Cape [illegible] wool
[illegible] 80 12
[illegible] 4 20-100
[illegible]

[illegible] 18 20-100

This wool will shrink in washing 67 per cent therefore it would cost scoured about 55 cents. It is as fine as XX fleeces of Ohio and Michigan growth These are now very low, but will bring to-day in the Boston market 42 cents shrink 48 and 50 per cent, therefore they would cost, clean, 80 to 84 cents

It will be seen how poor a chance 80 and 84 cent wool has to compete with 55 cent wool, equally fine, and worth for a great many purposes just as much clean per pound

Cape and Mestiza wools cost under present duty—
[illegible] at port of shipment [see above] $0 12
Duty 10 cents per pound and 11 per cent ad valorem 11 32-100
Cost to land [illegible] 2 8-100

Total 25 40-100

Cost, clean, 67 per cent, shrinkage, 77 cents

This is more nearly the value of our own wool than 55 cents would be.

It needs no further illustration to show the ruinous effect which this proposed change in the wool tariff will have on wool-growing in the United States In 1872 congress, in making a general reduction in tariff duties, reduced the tariff on wool 10 per cent, and during that very year we imported 122,256 499 pounds and over 54,000,000 pounds more than we imported in 1871 the year before such reduction took place, while in 1873 we imported 85,496,049 pounds In 1874 the original tariff duty was again restored on wool, and during that year the amount of imported wool decreased to 42 939,541 pounds In 1872 and 1873 wool bore a high price in this country and this had [illegible] to do, without doubt in increasing the amount imported. But the ten per cent reduction in the duty has much to do in encouraging the importation of wool to the detriment of our own wool growers It is manifest that our wool growers must market their wool with our wool manufacturers, and they are desirous of aiding in building up and maintaining the wool manufacturing interests of the country until the wool grower and wool manufacturer can clothe our own people without expending from $30,000,000 to $60 000,000 annually in the purchase of foreign wool and woolens er clock, but we could clearly detect the whirr of the minute wheels, the buzz and ba tion on the delicate machinery of the watch. Then the watch was removed and the gentlest sweep of the down of a feather, brushed as lightly as possible across the board, reached the ear magnified to sound like the coarse grating of a file or of the scraping of a heavy brush. Then a small wire cage, containing two common house flies, was placed on the instrument, and to the listening ear, 600 feet away, distinctly came the soft and regular patter of the tiny feet as the flies walked over the board, and as they flew from one side of the cage to other, the sound as they struck against the fine wire was heard with a sharp metallic ring, altogether like that of the hammer of a boiler-maker, as he rivets the bolt in the iron cylinder. We were somewhat skeptical in relation to this last experiment, it seemed so much beyond credence, and the wires were detached, the annunciator fastened to the instrument, with only a few feet of wire, and we sat down in front of the little wonder, and with our eyes made certain there was no possibility of deceit as to the source of the marvelous sounds to which we listened; but there was no difference, the footfalls of the fly came with no seeming greater distinctness than were transmitted through 600 feet of wire, and we see no reason why miles may not be added with the same result. Conversation in the room where the instrument was located, without the intervention of a mouth-piece, as in the telephone, was distinctly heard at the other end of the wire.—Lawrence (Mass.) American.

J. M. ELLISON, Agent

W. S. Gable died Wednesday of consumption, and yesterday a brother of the deceased accompanied by the remains, left for Leavenworth, Kansas.

Several of our merchants are in the east purchasing goods, and others are ordering from sample. Trade promises to be unusually good this winter.

C. F. Evans departed overland for Hopeful Furnace, Mo., on the 12th of August and arrived there on the 31st. On the second day of September he was dead. It is extremely dangerous for some people to leave this high, dry atmosphere and go to the lower latitudes.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon, as announced elsewhere, a meeting of the relief association will be held at the college building, Tejon street. There appears to be a demand from destitute people for assistance, and it is hoped that the benevolently inclined will lend this meeting the encouragement of their attendance and ready cash.

We are informed by Mr. Hines, of the St. Louis Smelting and Refining company's office, that in consequence of the bad roads, freightage between here and Leadville has advanced twenty-five per cent. We are aware of the difficulties in the way of keeping this road in order, but we trust that our county commissioners will do all in their power to free the road of all obstacles to easy freighting.

There was [illegible] the Colorado Springs [illegible] last night one of the [illegible] of an [illegible] in that parts. It is a [illegible] and over six or seven inches in length. [illegible] looking at it late in the evening we heard a scientific gentleman express the opinion that it is a petrified diminutive [illegible], while another gentleman, possessed of a less theoretical turn of mind, declared it to be nothing [illegible] than one of "Mucilage's" Pike's Peak rats.

Yesterday a lady advertised in the GAZETTE for a breast pin which she had lost and it was returned within an hour after the issue of the paper. A business man in the city also advertised in the GAZETTE yesterday for a pocket book containing money which he had lost. The pocket book was returned with the money during the day. These are only two of many instances which we might mention where valuable articles have been immediately recovered by advertising in the GAZETTE. If you want to buy, sell, or find anything advertise in the GAZETTE.

Dr. Edwards and family has just returned from his camping trip at the Seven Lakes. He reports splendid hunting. On Wednesday he killed ten grouse and thirty-three ducks, on the day before a deer and a bear, and during his ten days he killed six other deer and a large amount of small game. He represents having seen a cinnamon bear weighing about 1,000 pounds, the largest he had ever seen. The bear, when discovered, was turning a log with its paw which would require six men to move. He reports the game very plenty. Mr. H. S. Grant also came home yesterday, and gives a like report. He returns via Marsh & Son's burro line on Saturday morning.

Pacing Purse.

On the first day of the trotting and running meeting "Sleepy Tom" and "Lady" will pace mile heats, three in five, for a special purse. As each horse has a very low record, the race will be an exciting one. Much feeling is already manifested over the result.

Personal

Sheriff Becker went to Denver yesterday.

Hon. Wm. M. Clark, state auditor, passed through the city at 11.35 yesterday, bound for Alamoso on a business trip. He reports that the general feeling in Denver over the "Belford scandal," as the democrats are pleased to term it, is that the whole plan to thus damage the character of Mr. Belford is absolutely so thin that men of all parties are enabled to see through and through it.

A breast pin was found a few days ago and brought to this office. The owner may have it by calling and paying for the advertisement.

Republican Rally.

There will be a republican rally at City Hall Saturday evening. Hon. C. W. Wright, our candidate for attorney general, will speak. He is a very graceful and eloquent speaker. Major McAllister will also speak and from the foretaste he gave us last week we may expect a rich treat. There will also be music by the Colorado Springs band and possibly some campaign songs.

The Survey Again.

In a late issue of the GAZETTE we mapped out the general course of the proposed Manitou railway from the start at the foot of the hill in front of the Springs hotel to Manitou. By the kindness of Percy Stephenson, one of Mr. Nettleton's assistants, we are enabled this morning to particularize and give in detail the preliminary survey which was concluded to-day.

The line of survey after leaving the north fence of the experimental garden crosses the railroad and Monument. From there it takes a westerly direction across Parrish's addition, skirting the southeast corner of A. K. Frost's ranch, winds around the bluff and crosses the wagon road near the corner of the first fence. The line then proceeds west along the field, finally reaching an alley south of the main street in Colorado City; thence a little north of the lock-up and south of Bond's hotel. The line then takes a westerly course, crossing the creek a little above the old town, goes through the Becker ranch, recrosses the road and runs between it and the Fountain until it reaches Manitou.

At the latter place there seems to be quite a diversity of opinion in reference to the benefits that are to accrue from the proposed line of railway. While every one seems to think it will in some measure benefit the place there are still quite a number who do not like the idea of running the dummy through their front yards which will be necessary if the railway is put on the north side of the wagon road, as there is only a limited amount of space between it and the creek. They think it probable that the railway will be on the north side of the road because the expense would be so great to have it on the south side. Those who have charge of the undertaking however, will endeavor as far as possible to prevent the road from marring any of the beauties of the "Saratoga of the West."

[illegible] Ranch—King Bros.' Ranch—Maryland Ranch.

Leaving Gates' ranch at 8 o'clock a. m. we took a bee line in the direction of the Spanish Peaks and after a ride of about six miles we "struck" the Suffolk ranch, owned by the King Bros. and located upon Squirrel creek some twenty-four miles east of Colorado Springs. They have at present 4,000 head of sheep, and 41 thorough-bred rams and sheared the past season 2,950 head. The aggregate weight of clip 12,500 pounds. They shipped 5,000 pounds to Justice, Bateman & Co., and the [illegible] to Gregg Bros. of Philadelphia. They have four ranches aside from the home ranch. The sheep are at present at Horse creek, some fifty miles from the homestead. They are in charge of three experienced herders. They winter the most of their stock at the home ranch. They have cut about twenty tons of hay. Bidding adieu to Suffolk ranch, we started for Sharratt & Buzzard's ranch six miles west. Here we were cordially received by Mr. Buzzard.

They have an excellent location, eighteen miles east of Colorado Springs, with abundant water supply and an excellent range. Within a radius of four miles of the home ranch they own five ranches. About 23,000 acres of land are owned and controlled by them. Their herd at present consists of 4,500 head. Of these 1,450 are wethers, 1,125 lambs, 1,800 ewes and 43 rams. These are all of improved stock, and at present are in excellent condition. During the past season 3,500 head were sheared with an average of nearly six and a half pounds per head. The entire clip which weighed 22,614 pounds, contained in eighty-four sacks, was shipped to Philadelphia, and consigned to Edward Mellor & Co.

Mr. Buzzard started in the spring of 1870 with one hundred head; he was joined by Mr. Sharratt in the spring of 1871, and the herd increased to 300 head. With the exception of a few rams, these are all that have been bought. This would give them an average increase since 1871 of 515 head per annum. Their annual loss since that time has not exceeded 3 per cent. They have never dipped their sheep owing to the fact that they have always been free from scab. They have some trouble at present with sheep tick, and will probably dip their lambs during the month to rid them of these parasites. They believe an open shed to be about as bad as none at all, from the fact that the snow is apt to drift under and into the shed. It is their intention to build within a year or two, a tight shed.

We were shown a new wool press, the invention of J. M. Milner, of Leesburg, Ohio, which strikes us as being fully capable of meeting the demands of wool growers. It is in the form of a folding table, upon which the fleece is put, and by means of a foot lever, is subjected to a sufficient pressure. We understand that Mr. Milner has applied for a patent, and with some improvements which he will make, will commence the manufacture of it. Within a few yards of the house they have a garden of one-half acre in which they raise [illegible] vegetables! They will put up this season about thirty tons of hay. After an excellent dinner we started for the Maryland ranch, some eight miles to the north. On our way we passed a herd of 2,[illegible] head of sheep, belonging to Homer Longmore. Also a herd of 1,600 head, belonging to J. E. Wheeler and quartered at what is known as the lower Austin ranch.

We reached the Maryland ranch at 6 o'clock p. m. and received a cordial reception from the proprietors, Messrs. J. L. Besore and R. M. Dodge. These gentlemen came to Colorado from Maryland early last spring. They had no intention of locating in this state, but were so pleased with the appearance of the country, and the inducements to wool growers, that they decided to remain. They purchased what is known as the Andrews ranch, situated on Squirrel creek, some twenty miles northeast of Colorado Springs. The location is admirable. The supply of water most excellent, seven springs are within one hundred yards of the house.

A comfortable house containing five rooms is occupied by the proprietors, while a cabin within a few rods of the house is used by the employes. On one side of the house is a large cellar and on the other a dairy house; both of these contain fine springs. They have also a large hen house, containing about ninety fowls. At present they have but seventy acres enclosed but will fence about a hundred acres more this fall. Their herd consists of 725 ewes and lambs and ten thorough bred rams. These are all in fine condition, and the indications for a favorable winter are excellent. They have about eighteen square miles of range. Feed never was better. They have 175 feet of open shedding, and will build this fall a close shed seventy-five feet long and thirty feet wide, also a ram shed thirty-five feet long. There is 175 feet of snow break fifty feet north of the sheds, and another will be built this fall 300 feet long and seventy-five yards from the present one. Their flock sheared the past season an average of five pounds per head. We had a very enjoyable visit with these gentlemen, and regretted to leave the place where we had been so hospitably entertained. We predict for them an abundant success in their undertaking and give them our best wishes. At 8 o'clock Saturday morning we turned our face toward Colorado Springs, which we reached in time for dinner.

TENDERFOOT.

The [illegible] gives the following interesting facts in regard to Ouray, the chief of the Utes:

Ouray has had built for him at his place about ten miles from the Los Pinos agency, on the Uncompahgre river, by the government, an adobe house, thirty by forty, finished in good style, with American furniture and carpets. He has a farm of three hundred acres enclosed and upwards of sixty acres under cultivation, in hay, vegetables, and grain. The work is done by Indians and Mexican retainers. His wife takes an active interest in the farm work and does her full share of the outdoor labor. He has a herd of two hundred horses and mules, some of them being very fine animals; in addition to the horse stock he has some cattle and several bands of sheep and goats.

His buildings are quite extensive, consisting of a large storehouse, four dwellings, stables, corrals, granaries, etc., etc. He has a fine family carriage, one of the best that could be purchased, a present from Governor Ed. McCook, which with a stylish team and Mexican driver makes a conspicuous turnout. The farm operations and business enterprises of Ouray have been very successful and prove him to be a shrewd, competent business man. It is the opinion of all who know anything about him, that he desires to adopt entirely the habits and life of the whites, and cut loose from Indian customs, but the innate love of power and prominence makes him cling to his leadership or chieftainship, with a tenacious grasp. During the council, it was observed by General Hatch that Ouray was a born leader and exhibited diplomatic talents of a high order in managing his unruly subjects and dealing with every point and question advanced by the commission. His age is about forty-five, and he has but one wife and child.

In the vicinity of the agency are not less than twenty thousand acres of fertile plain and bottom land, which only requires a moderate expenditure in building and irrigating canals to render the whole susceptible of producing abundant crops of all varieties of grain and vegetables. From a distance of two and a half miles south of the agency, a canal could be taken out which would cover the "second bottom" for a distance of forty miles on the west side of the river. This bottom has a width of half a mile to eighteen miles. The estimated acreage is very small, when compared with the amount of land between the foothills and the river, and no better soil for agricultural and pastoral purposes can be found in Colorado. This is proved by the fact that at the agency are twenty-five acres of land under cultivation, now producing oats, corn, potatoes and a general variety of garden vegetables that can not be excelled in excellence and amount per acre, in any agricultural section.

An offer was made the agent a few days since of $1,500 for the product of less than five acres of potatoes, but he declined it as the crop has been raised by government employes. Issues of roasting ears, melons, turnips, squashes have already been made to the principal chiefs, and as rapidly as crops ripen other issues will be made.

The following statistics are gathered from information obtained at the agency and from parties conversant with the facts. There are in possession of chiefs and individual Indians of the Los Pinos agency, 5,000 horses; 500 horned cattle; 10,000 sheep; 2,000 goats. A small band of Indians have located ranches on a stream flowing into the Gunnison, about sixty miles from the agency, and have nearly a hundred acres under cultivation. They are reported to be very successful in their venture; they have also horses, cattle, sheep, and goats.

The band which has its headquarters at this agency, is rated and estimated at two thousand Indians, men, women, and children; but Agent Abbott thinks that estimate entirely too high, that fifteen hundred is nearer the real figures. The reason why an accurate census can not be secured is, that the Indians have some superstitious idea that listing and numbering them would be an injury, and the chiefs put so many obstacles in the way that it has been found an utter impossibility to obtain a census.
